

First Grade Newsletter

September 20, 2019

This week, in First Grade, we practiced understanding and writing addition sentences in Math. We learned what happens when zero is added to another number and we learned that you can "flip" the addends on either side of the plus sign and the answer remains the same. In Language Arts, we learned about action words (verbs). In Reading, we learned the importance of the order of events in a story. We also used the story of "The Three Bears" to further exemplify this concept. In Science, we learned about living and non-living things. We had fun looking around our classroom for things that are living and non-living. We also enjoyed reading and learning about Johnny Appleseed. Ask your child what his real name was! In Bible this week, we practiced for our Chapel presentation, which is this coming Wednesday, September 25. Please join us if you can! Chapel is from 8:30-9:00 in the Fellowship Hall.

If you are interested in helping with First Grade's "Trunk or Treat", please let me know. This event will be on Friday evening, October 25. This is always great fun for our kids!

Next Friday, September 27, is a minimum day for students. All students will be dismissed at 12 noon.

Have a blessed weekend.
