

Hello First Grade Families!

I apologize if you received two newsletters. I finished and sent my newsletter, when my laptop battery died.

In Math we continued learning about addition, subtraction, number sentences and ordinal numbers. In ELA, we continued learning about story structure.

October 28th, 29th and 30th are all minimum days and dismissal is at 12:00 noon.

Parent-teacher conferences are Wednesday and Thursday starting at starting at 12:45. Extended care is available. Please email me if you are unable to meet with me. On minimum days, please pack one snack for your child. If they are going to extended care, please remember to pack a lunch and extra snack just in case.

There are a few chapel sweaters that are missing in my class. If you could please check to see if a sweater belonging to another student may have come home by mistake, please bring the sweater back to me. Please label their chapel sweaters or any other jackets or sweaters. Please send your child with a sweater or zippered hoodie to keep in their backpack. Sometimes our a/c can be a bit chilly.

Please send your student with a small pumpkin by next Wed We are doing lots of fun Halloween activities next week. Students can come to school dressed in costumes on Friday, October 30th. They can dress as a biblical character, an animal, or a occupation, such as a police officer, firefighter, Please no masks, gloves, wands, weapons. Treats can be brought in, but they need to be pre-packaged candy or cookies, etc. Goodie bags can be brought in as well.

A smoothie order form was sent home in their homework folder. Please bring their form along with cash by Wednesday, Oct. 28th.

Have a great weekend!

Mrs. Campos
