

Mr. Miller's 3rd Grade Newsletter

Good afternoon parents,

This week we had a take home quiz, which was open book and notes. The students are getting better at finding the information in the book. I am hearing a few grumblings from the parents, but realize this is the first time they have taken notes and had to find that information. Lesson three, on the adaptation of plants, was a lab we did in class and the answers in the book were done together in class in their Science workbooks. The Friday folders are a little light this week because we received the new workbooks and they are working out of those for Journeys. Next week, will have a test in Journey's, Spelling and Social Studies

We will be conducting a book report after Thanksgiving break. I want all the students to have the same book. The book is Super Fudge, by Judy Blume. Please order your student the paperback copy so they can read in class. The final project will be due the week before Christmas break. Here is the link for the book on amazon.
