

Mr. Miller's 3rd Grade Newsletter

Good afternoon parents,

Friday will be a half day, but extended care will still be going on so please have your student bring lunch and afternoon snacks if they will be attending aftercare.

We will be starting a new book for the next book report. The book will be "DoubleFudge," by Judy Blume. Here is the link to purchase the book. As soon as we all have the book, we will begin reading.

https://www.amazon.com/Double-Fudge-Judy-Blume/dp/0142408786/ref=sr_1_1?crid=20TF1E7WG8T0O&keywords=double+fudge+by+judy+blume&qid=1673566509&srefix=double+fudge%2Caps%2C179&sr=8-1

The reading/writing notebooks and Science/Social Studies notebooks are getting full. Please get your student 2, new lined booklets. Moving forward, all work submitted to me will be on lined paper. Anything that is submitted on printer paper will not be accepted and will be returned to the student to be fixed.

Moving forward, any late assignments will be penalized for half credit. If they are turned in more than a week past due, it will receive a score of zero.

Some of the students are having some troubles with multiplication of 7's. Please send 3"x5" note cards in with your students to make flashcards on Monday. Thank you very much.

School Work

1. Bible- God hears and answers his people.
2. Journey's- The story this week will be "Judy Moody Saves the World!". Working on different types of adjectives (what kind, how many).
3. Math- Multiplying by 7's, addition of numbers between 10-100 and working on linear measurement. We will also be identifying linear segments by their descriptions.
4. Science- We will continue unit 4, by completing a lab of what is in an ecosystem. (hopefully the weather will cooperate)
5. Social Studies- We have a project due on Thursday. Reduce, Reuse, Recycle. I have attached the assignment to the email. We will continue with protecting the environment.
