

Mr. Miller's 4th Grade Newsletter

Good afternoon parents,

Next week, we have winter break. I hope you have a great break with your family and are able to spend time and do some fun activities. I want the kids to be kids and have a wonderful break. I will post the spelling words and the week's schedule when we return from break.

We have less than one month left in this quarter. I will be chatting with a few of you about your student's performance if they are earning less than 70% in any subject. I will start this next week at pick up.

February 27th the 4th and 5th grade will be conducting a hike at Pena Adobe. I will be sending out permission slips Friday for the trip. I will need some volunteers to drive the students there and back.

The book report is going to be due 28 February. They will be giving their presentations that day. I am hoping to get through all of them on that day.

I have surgery at the end of February. I may have to extend the due date for the mission project if I can not make it back to class in time. I plan on having my replacement continue with the daily homework emails and the same weekly newsletter layout. If you need more information about this, send me a message.
